

"I go for the country, the whole country—and it is my earnest and sincere wish to see the individual placed at the head of the nation, who, by a strict observance of the constitution (be he who he may), can make us most prosperous at home, as well as most respected abroad."

Z. TAYLOR.

FOR PRESIDENT, IN 1848, MAJOR GENERAL ZACHARY TAYLOR, OF LOUISIANA, THE HERO

PALO ALTO, RESACA DE LA PALMA,
MONTEREY,
And Buena Vista.

Subject to the decision of the Whig National Convention.

WHIG NOMINATION FOR GOVERNOR OF MARYLAND, WILLIAM T. GOLDSBOROUGH, OF DORCHESTER COUNTY.

ARMY MATTERS.

The recent advices from Mexico are none the most pleasant to reflect upon. Gen. Scott was in the heart of the enemy's country, in the midst of the thickest of his population, with a handful of men, and his communication with the sea coast was interrupted by a well appointed army of 1800 men led by a Spanish Priest. The yellow fever was decimating our garrison at Vera Cruz, and on the 9th instant only 30 men were capable of bearing arms in the Castle, and 300 in the city. Near half a million of money in charge of 800 troops were beset by a force of 1800 in the narrow defiles near the National Bridge, and compelled to come to the defensive until reinforcements could be obtained from Vera Cruz, where there were but seven hundred men that could be spared to go to the relief of Colonel McIntosh. The National Bridge was about to be destroyed, so as to prevent the passage of our artillery except at great risk, and under immense difficulties. The pass of the Cerro Gordo was about to be seized by the enemy again in force so as to cut off our communication with the interior entirely.

Meanwhile our forces were going forward in considerable numbers and were daily arriving at Vera Cruz, where Gen. Cadwallader had his Headquarters. Unless there has been a general uprising of the Mexicans between Vera Cruz and Jalapa, the march of these new levies into the interior cannot long be impeded. The New Orleans Picayune, always well posted in Mexican matters, fears that reverses are at hand for us. We truly hope the fears of that well informed journal may prove groundless, but really we cannot help participating in them to some extent. We have great faith in the invincibility of our officers and our troops, and believe they are capable of reenacting Buena Vista scenes whenever demanded of them, but we dread a reverse of any kind. It would be a bad hour to our handful of troops in Puebla.

In the face of these warlike facts, we see the press at home predicting with the boldness of prophecy a speedy peace—but we notice there is always an "if" to their predictions.—The Washington Correspondent of the New York Courier and Enquirer is more vociferous than ever in his prophecies, but they are now based upon the "if any Government can be found to negotiate with." Grund of the Baltimore Sun bases his predictions on the same supposition. So that a peace is made, we care not how it is made, but it is amusing to read the modes, in which the Presidential correspondents for the public journals assert it will be brought about. These modes vary with every day's letters. No well informed man in this city reposes the least confidence in any of these peace stories. They are regarded as slanders thrown out to amuse the whale and laughed at accordingly. If there were any disposition in Mexico to make peace, it would necessarily be preceded by some signs of such a state of things, but on the contrary, every thing wears a warlike appearance. But time will show who is right. In the meantime we boldly assert that Mr. Polk does not desire peace with Mexico, and that all his professions of a desire for peace are mere pretences. See, if this assertion be not verified by the result!

Late from General Taylor.—Mr. Atwood, who left General Taylor on the 31st ult., states that he has only about four thousand effective troops, and will not have exceeding five thousand and eight hundred, when all his reinforcements arrive. Gen. Taylor says he will not move towards San Luis unless he has upwards of six thousand. He is still at Walnut Springs, in fine health and spirits.

Mr. Atwood is enthusiastic in his description of Gen. Taylor's treatment of him. He informed Mr. Atwood, on his introduction, that he knew the object of his visit, that he must make his march his home, and then the old General went to work, sitting for his portrait with due energy and perseverance.

It took Mr. Marcy just two weeks to prepare the letter acknowledging the indebtedness of the United States to General Taylor and his army for winning the battle of Buena Vista. He will move quicker than this on the 3d of March, 1849—that's one comfort.

The Tenant of the White House arrived in New York according to previous appointment. A good deal of powder was burnt on the occasion by his partisan office holders.

A letter received in this city, says the Mobile Tribune, dated "Vera Cruz," June 11th, states that General Cadwallader was attacked by guerrillas on his way to succor Lieut. McIntosh. His reinforcements had not reached the train at the latest advices.

Slave Labor.—The Southern papers are very indignant at the claim of the Tredegar white operatives, that the negro slave mechanics shall not labor with them. These papers say that the masters will now spare no pains nor money to make their slaves skilful in all the mechanic arts, so as to do without white mechanical laborers. The Tredegar Iron Works are now carried on entirely by negro operatives.

The Columbus Statesman, the leading Democratic paper in Ohio, holds the following language:

"Let the American Generals say to the priests: Gentlemen, we have respected your religion and protected you in your wealth—yet you have used your influence and your money to procrastinate the war. This must not be. If peace is not established by a fixed time, your entire wealth shall be confiscated and our troops shall be paid with your treasure."

A witness in one of the Philadelphia courts recently testified Judge Barton very severely for handling his testimony and character too closely.

The President, says the North American, uses oil in his salad and drinks ice-water.

TRIBULATIONS OF TRAVEL.

Foot of Headquarters, June 12th 1847.

O. Mither Edisher, darlin', bud its meeself has a power to say, only as I mane to hould me tongue I won't say it, barin' a little that nobody can take hold of. O, bud isn't this a mighty grate country, int'rely, for bars—or crow-bars and sand bars, and Miss Kitty bars (bad cess to them same Miss Kitty's, they are worse than our Irish ones, and all our other poor relations), and for hotel bars—that I call a purely American invention—in fact, as me father's countryman's son, Mither Gathoun, sez of the nays, I regard your hotel bars as one of the "peculiar institutions of the South." Why, they bait the world for the sytin' and the drinkin'. Only think of it, three males a day, and the best of brandy for a wash down, and all for thirty cents a day! O, be gor, it's livin' male aisy—reduced to a practical science; and if I had but met some purty little girl that I could conscientiously declare me intentions to, I b'lieve I'd have settled down here for life. But that iday is all over now, for I'm listed as a bould dragoon, and am goin' to stay as many Mexican as I can lay hold of. If I live to return I shall certainly cum back—that is, barin' some black-eyed Mexican Senorita should take it into her head to fall in love with me—a thing, judgin' from me past experience elsewhere, not altogether improbable. Or, after a payce, which we'll be sure to conquer after if we there, if not sooner. I might, purely from motives of philanthropy, you see, be induced to remain there just to instruct the barbarous natives in the polite sciences and the learned accomplishments, such as tacyhin them to spayk, read and write the English language with grammatical propriety, the beautiful art of self-defence, the proper mode of dictatin' a challenge, or, as we call it in Ireland, "pistol aisy correspondence." In this way, I think, I'm bind to be a benefactor to me race, or rather to the Mexican race, which seems, be gor, to be but a scrul-face after all.

Our Sargint is a devil of a fellow for drillin'—he carries his drillin' to such an extent that, to me, he is a perfect jove. If you were only to hear him "eyes right!" "eyes left!" "eyes front!" be gor, he seems to think a man's eyes turn on a swivel, and that he can look three ways at once. Tellin' us sometimes to stan' at aye, he laves us for half an hour out under the burnin' sun, as if any one could be at aye in such a position. "Handy," sis he to me, "you march very badly." "May be I do, Sargint," sis I, "but its more than I know. I always used to be counted handy with me feet." O, there's that thiev'n' drum agin, callin' us to drill, and in baytin' that into me head, everything else is bet out.

Yours, uniformly, in uniform,
ANDY HANDY.

CITY ITEMS.

Dr. Draper's Lectures.—Dr. Draper, one of the most agreeable speakers of the day, delivers a lecture on Monday evening, at Temperance Hall, on the Causes and Cure of Consumption. Everybody will be sure to go to hear truth on this subject, for it is one that concerns everybody.

Weather.—Cool wind and burning sun. Streets clouded with dust. Avenue empty, and things look desolate.

Music at the President's.—This evening, at six o'clock, precisely—that is, if the First Clarinetist has found his reed, and the President of the Council, Mr. Buchanan, permits.

Fuller's New Hotel.—They have the ground for this new hotel at the corner of 12th street and the Avenue, nearly ready for operations. It is to be a grand affair, and will be worthy of those favorite hosts, the Fullers.

Tyson's.—Are you fond of the weed? Yes. Then call at Tyson's, and you can get the very best preparation of it, whether for the nose or for the mouth. Tyson's segars are celebrated, in the opinion of the dilettanti. See his advertisement.

We owe thanks to Long & Brother, of N. York, for a splendid picture, colored to life, of the Old Thunderer of Buena Vista, and next President of the United States. We shall frame it, and hang it in our office. The eye is remarkably fine, and the mouth indicates the very soul of charity. Everybody should have a copy of this likeness. It is as large as life. The price is trifling—only one dollar for what is worth a hundred.

Mr. Buchanan left town in the 12 o'clock train to-day, to join the President on his Northern tour.

Harvesting.—The reapers and cradlers are making havoc with the ripe wheat in Fairfax county, Virginia. The merry song of these gatherers of "bread" is heard in every field.

The horse attached to Mr. John H. Smith's barouche ran off last evening about 8 o'clock, in C street, and brought up at D. Humphrey's livery stable minus one of the fore wheels and the two front standards of the top broken. No injury done to the young man in charge of the carriage except a few bruises.

CRIMINAL COURT, June 25, 1847.—United States vs. negro Cassy Williams—Larceny.—Stealing a gold chain, the property of N. P. Causeine, jr. Not guilty. Wilson and Ratcliff for prisoner.

United States vs. negro Warner—Assault.—Charged with assaulting Mrs. John Allen. Guilty. Motion in arrest of judgment, that the prisoner is a slave. Swann and Ratcliff for prisoner.

United States vs. negro George Hawkins—Larceny.—Charged with stealing sundry articles the property of Samuel Carson. Verdict guilty—and the jury found the value of the articles stolen to be $4.87. Sentenced to four months imprisonment in the jail. Ratcliff for prisoner.

United States vs. negro Isabella Brown—Larceny.—Stealing one silk dress and one calico dress, the property of Nelly Forrest. Not guilty. Ratcliff and Wilson for prisoner.

The negroes of the Island of Antigua lately subscribed seven hundred dollars toward the relief of the suffering poor of Ireland.

Col. Bolling has taken the field. He made a speech on the 22d instant at Mecklenburg Court House.

The negro Masons have had a turn out in Philadelphia.

The hundredth anniversary of the foundation of Princeton College, New Jersey, is to be celebrated on the 30th instant.

"In the Florida was I preserved my health wholly by temperance," says General Taylor. Where the water was very impure some of the officers and men insisted on the absolute necessity of using ardent spirits with it. But I always observed that they fared the worse for it. As for myself, I would mix the swamp water with coarse meal so as to clear it from sediment, and content myself with such beverage."

Three of the volunteers just returned from the battle of Buena Vista, were killed at Covington, Ky. on the 22d inst. by the accidental discharge of cannon with which they were firing a salute.

The Louisville, Ky., people are enjoying a visit to our city by looking at a panoramic view of it on 3000 feet of canvass.

The remains of Colo. McKee and others who fell at Buena Vista arrived at Louisville on the 21st instant.

Two men have recently been passing thro' Vigo county, Indiana, under very mysterious circumstances. Blood was seen on their clothes.

As a lady and gentleman of Pittsburgh were walking near the corner of Penn street and Garrison Alley, on the 24th instant, a party of three ruffians rushed out and struck the lady in the face.

Fine crops in all south Missouri, say the papers of that section of the State.

The Mexican boys of Vera Cruz had a grand sham battle on the 6th inst. outside the walls. One party represented the Americans and the other the Mexicans.

It is rumored in the Matamoros papers that Col. John Hays regiment which reported to General Taylor at Monterey has been ordered back to Texas, the General having no authority to receive them.

There is great excitement in Gen. Taylor's army at the course of Mr. Polk in keeping the old Hero with only a corporal's guard in camp.

We learn from Captain Coffin, of the Mary Kingdom, says the N. O. National, that our force at Vera Cruz does not exceed three hundred! and only forty troops in the Castle!!! The guerrilla party that attacked the train amounted to 1700 men. We think the city and our troops in imminent danger. Who is responsible for the conduct of this war! [James K. Polk, who is now traipsing about in the North.]

General Scott has issued orders that there are to be no more prisoners taken in the war. [Are they all to be put to the sword?]

Missouri Steamers. The people of South Missouri are determined that Congress shall drain their swamps of one million three hundred thousand acres, and are preparing to make themselves heard the coming season. The level of these swamps is 27 feet above high water in the Mississippi. We can tell the Missourians how they can effect their object. Let them return a Whig Delegation to the House of Representatives and send two Whig Senators from their State. And then, with old Zach as President, this great work will be sure to be done.

The Rio Grande. A powerful paper has been published in the New Orleans Picayune, by the officer in charge of the Exploring Expedition last fall up the Rio Grande, giving a clear account of the river and its banks as far north as the Presidio, 700 miles from the mouth. A few thousand dollars will make the river navigable as high as Laredo at all seasons for steamboats drawing four feet water. It may be made navigable as high as the Presidio by a heavy expenditure of money. Coal of the best kind is found in great abundance at Guerrero.

We are informed says Prentice, that Charles A. Wickliffe thanks God we were not born in Kentucky. If Kentucky were to return thanks for having such a citizen as Wickliffe, she would thank the Devil.

We understand that Mr. Wm. J. Armstrong, Deputy Sheriff of Hampshire county, Va., was shot by a man named Rowland on the 19th instant. Mr. A. survived but a few moments after he was shot.

The London News says that the people of the United States "would fight the Devil himself." We have no doubt says Prentice they will give him a fork one of these days.

Illinois Convention. The question of a poll tax at last dates was being discussed in this body with great violence. It had come to no decision upon the subject after three days furious speaking.

On the 18th instant a hurricane about half a mile in width passed over Tiffin, Ohio, blowing down houses, killing cattle, &c. Every brick building in the town was more or less injured. No human life lost.

On the 21st instant the lightning struck a house in Rochester and killed Mr. Matthews, his wife and daughter, while sleeping on the floor.

In one day 833 bushels of strawberries were brought into New York by the Erie Railroad. It took 28,000 quarts of milk to eat them with.

On the 23d instant a man by the name of Bassford assaulted and came near killing one Henry Dorsey whom he caught persuading Mrs. Bassford to leave her husband. Dorsey was a suitor of Mrs. B. before her marriage.

The poles of the magnetic line of Telegraph are all up for 60 miles on the route between New Orleans and Mobile.
